About Us

The name Drona is inspired from Dronacharya, a revered figure in Indian history. He is a representation of the Indian tradition of respecting one's teacher on the same level as God. At Drona, we believe in creating leaders through good leadership. This is the foundation on which Drona is built. Education is the only way to eradicate all social evils and promote children to become leaders of tomorrow. The school is the best temple to serve this purpose and teachers are the God to bless them to reach their goals. These thoughts have set the building with strong foundation for Drona. We offer End- to- End and complete support in every functional area of a school. The Tagline "Your Search Ends Here..." is framed with the deepest sense of onus to help Educational institutions, Teachers, Parents and Students streamline in a proper channel to reach their destination and ultimately ending their search and being the start of a new beginning. In our approach, we suggest teachers to present their transaction as a buffet for students to help them serve themselves based on their taste and need. The Synonymous line of thought has paved way for the rise of Drona. We academicians wanted to present a buffet of resources and services that help educational institutions to cater to their taste and need.

NLP and ABLE

NLP – Neuro Linguistic Programming – A broad series of techniques for modeling and achieving success and excellence in every area of life. It is a study of behavioral excellence. NLP has many areas of mainstream practice including psychotherapy and counseling, management and sales training, sports performance, public and motivational speaking, business and life coaching as well as alternative and new age thought. NLP is the study of how information is stored as it is received by the 5 senses and the imagination, and the meaning that is attached to it. By changing any of these elements, also called 're-framing' we are able to change one's experience of the world and more consciously shape reality in ways that are desired. This can best be recognized when dealing with fears. The objects of fear and distress have been stored in a specific way in the mind and a particular meaning, rational or irrational has been attached to that experience. Using NLP techniques it is actually very simple to re-create a different experience around the object or situation allowing people to experience fearful objects and situations as though they never existed.

NLP is also a set of highly advanced and persuasive language patterns which can be effective for Principals, Teachers and Students who wish to be the change they wanted to see in their Family, Work place and Society.
